Body-Mind Centering® Workshops Organs 1 & 2

Alice Cummins

*Listening to the body is like learning to see and feel beneath the surface of things.
Perhaps like listening to the ocean when you bring a shell to your ear – Alice C*

Do you know what is inside you? Do you know where your organs are? Would you like to know?

Integrating organs into our embodiment brings vitality and spaciousness. Their liveliness underlies our capacity for pleasure, joy and expressiveness. Organs give us a voice. They are about process, fullness and emotional expression.

In 2020 Alice is offering two workshops to map, navigate and explore the life of our major organs:
Workshop 1 (6 & 7 June 2020): introduction to organ mind; digestive system and brain as an organ.
Workshop 2 (5 & 6 September 2020): heart & lung support; kidneys and sexual organs.

Through a focus of breath, sounding, anatomical images and guided moving we will reveal both the mystery of personal organ life and their systemic contribution to the communal life of the body. You will feel more dynamically present to yourself and others. In recognising the role of the organs we re-align our skeletal-muscular system enabling a psychosomatic shift that is felt throughout the bodymind.

*Please wear loose comfortable clothing, bring a blanket for lying on the floor and a journal for writing.

I sensed consciously an openness and connection to my body that stilled the mind and awakened me as a whole being bringing a deep intimacy, sensuality and profound inner communication to my whole body... Shei M
